

CS 4001 - Term Paper References List

Turn in a list of all the references you have developed for your paper. As this paper is 12-15 pages long, a reasonable number of references is 12-15 (minimum).

The list should be formatted according to EITHER the APA guidelines (see Writing Arguments for details) OR in ACM or IEEE format, if you are already familiar with them. Do not use MLA guidelines.

You may add additional references between now when you turn in your paper; the process of elaborating on your arguments often suggests other information to track down. The purpose of this step is to encourage you to develop a fairly complete set of references before you do your final writing.

A word of caution about on-line sources: not all web sites are authoritative. Newspapers and news magazines and magazines are fine. Wikipedia is not always authoritative and should not be used as a prime reference (it is best used to find authoritative sources or gather background understanding). A term paper that happens to be on-line is not authoritative and should not be used at all. Blogs are fine as a source of opinions but should not be used as an authoritative source of facts.

Submit: A printout of your references in the appropriate format. Be sure to include your name and working paper topic at the top of the page. For each reference, write a sentence or two that justifies why you are using it.
